Parent and Carers Information Sheet

Why am I receiving this letter?

Your child is being invited to take part in a research study.

Before you decide whether they can take part, it is important for you to understand why the research is being conducted and what it will involve. Please take time to read the following information carefully. If anything is unclear or if you would like more information, please contact us (see 'further information' section below). Thank you for taking the time to read this.

If your child will be in Year 9 in Autumn 2024, they are part of a cohort of pupils that we are asking to complete the survey on an annual basis for three years, starting in Autumn 2023. You will have received this information sheet last year if your child's school signed-up to take part.

If you chose to opt-out of the research study for your child last year, then your decision to opt-out is still recorded on our system and your child will not be taking part in the survey this year. You do not have to return the form again. If you have previously chosen for your child to opt-out of the survey but would like them to take part in Autumn 2024, please contact us at beewellprogramme@manchester.ac.uk.

If your child will be in Year 10 in Autumn 2024, you will be receiving this information sheet for the first time. This is the only academic year that your child will be eligible to take part in the research study. Please make sure to read this information carefully to understand what the research study is and to decide if you would like your child to take part or opt-out.

About the research

Who will conduct the research?

Professor Neil Humphrey, Manchester Institute of Education, The University of Manchester, is leading the study. The project is a collaboration between The University of Manchester, Anna Freud, the Child Outcomes Research Consortium, Gregson Family Foundation, and Hampshire, Isle of Wight, Portsmouth and Southampton Local Authorities. Only the University of Manchester and Anna Freud will have access to the project dataset outlined below; the remaining organisations support the project in other ways (for example, the Child Outcomes Research Consortium provides guidance to schools on their wellbeing provision).

What is the purpose of the research?

The aim of our study is to look into the wellbeing (e.g. happiness) of young people across Hampshire, Isle of Wight, Portsmouth and Southampton. We also want to know what influences their wellbeing (e.g. relationships, physical activity).

Who is being asked to take part?

Your child's school has signed up to the #BeeWell programme, in which pupil's complete online surveys once a year, as follows:

	2023-24	2024-25	2025-26
Year 8	Survey	No survey	No survey

Year 9	No survey	Survey	No survey
Year 10	Survey	Survey	Survey

Will the research be published?

We will publish our findings in journals, blogs, conference presentations, doctoral student theses, and summary reports on websites and social media. Participating schools and Local Authorities will receive summary feedback reports. The project dataset will also be made publicly available. This will mean that other researchers can use the data to answer their own questions about young people’s wellbeing. In all of the above, your child’s responses will be completely anonymous.

Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) Check

Members of the research team have each had DBS checks at the Enhanced Disclosure level.

Who has reviewed the research project?

The project has been reviewed and approved by The University of Manchester Research Ethics Committee 1 (Ref: 2021-11133-18179).

Who is funding the research?

The project is funded by The University of Manchester, The Gregson Family Foundation, and The National Lottery Community Fund.

What would my child’s involvement be?

Your child will be asked to complete a survey in Autumn 2024, which will take them 20-30 minutes. This will be done online at school.

There are no significant risks or disadvantages to taking part in the survey. However, we will let your child know about a range of sources of support that they can seek out if any of the questions make them feel sad, worried or upset (e.g. parent/carer, Childline, member of school staff). There is no guaranteed benefit in taking part, but completing wellbeing surveys can help some young people to reflect on their lives.

Will I or my child be compensated (e.g. receive money or vouchers) for taking part?

There is no compensation available for participating.

What happens if I do not want my child to take part or if I change my mind?

It is up to you to decide if you want your child to take part or not. If you give permission, your child will also be asked if they want to take part. You can both change your mind at any time, without giving a reason. If after your child has taken part, you decide that you want us to remove their survey answers, you can contact us to delete the record. However, it will not be possible to remove your child’s data once it has been anonymised as we will not be able to identify their specific data. We anticipate that this will take place by the end of 2029, after which personally identifiable information will be securely destroyed.

This does not affect your data protection rights. If you decide that you do not want your child to take part, please complete the short ‘opt out’ form at the end of this sheet and return it to us using the FREEPOST address by the specified date. If you prefer, you can telephone or email us using the information provided on the opt-out form.

Data protection and confidentiality

What information will you collect about my child?

For your child to participate in this survey we need to collect information that could identify them, called “personal identifiable information”. We will need to collect:

- Forename, surname
- Ethnicity
- Unique pupil number
- Date of birth
- Residential postcode
- Free school meal eligibility
- Year group
- Sex
- Special educational needs
- English as an additional language

This information will be provided by your child’s school or local authority.

We will also be collecting information about your child’s wellbeing, and the factors that influence their wellbeing. This includes questions about:

- Life satisfaction, psychological wellbeing, self-esteem, stress and coping, emotion regulation, and appearance
- Positive and negative emotions
- Health and routines, hobbies and entertainment, school, environment and society, relationships, and wellbeing support in and out of school
- Gender identity and sexuality
- Migration status

How will the information gathered be used?

We will link the information provided by your child’s school or Local Authority to their survey answers. We will link their residential postcode to public information about the local area (for example, whether there is access to parks and other green spaces). In the future, we plan to link our project data to other information held about your child, for example, educational data (e.g. academic attainment) in the National Pupil Database; employment and earnings data (e.g. annual income) in the Longitudinal Educational Outcomes database; data on access to NHS-funded community services (e.g. referrals to children and young people’s health services) in the Community Services Dataset; and, data on access to NHS-funded mental health services (e.g. referrals to child and adolescent mental health services) in the Mental Health Services Dataset.

How will data be linked and why is this beneficial?

The basic process for data linkage is outlined below:

Linking our project data in this way significantly improves what we can learn about young people’s wellbeing and how it influences (and is influenced by) what is happening in other aspects of their lives.

Under what legal basis are you collecting this information?

We are collecting and storing personal identifiable information in accordance with UK data protection law. This states that we must have a legal basis (specific reason) for collecting your data. For this study, the specific reason is that it is “a public interest task” and “a process necessary for research purposes”.

What are my rights in relation to the information you will collect about my child?

You have rights under data protection law with reference to your personal information. For example, you can request a copy of the information we hold about your child. If you would like to know more about your different rights or the way we use your personal information, please consult our Privacy Notice for Research: <https://documents.manchester.ac.uk/display.aspx?DocID=37095>

Will my child’s participation in the survey be confidential? Will their personal identifiable information be protected?

In accordance with data protection law, The University of Manchester is the Data Controller for this project. This means that we are responsible for making sure your personal information is kept secure, confidential and used only in the way you have been told it will be used. All researchers are trained, and your data will be looked after in the following ways:

- All information will be treated strictly confidentially. Only named members of the research team at the University of Manchester and Anna Freud will access the identifiable data*, except in instances where it is being securely provided to the organisations that hold the above-named datasets to enable data linkage.
- After the research team has used identifying information to link data in the ways described above, the dataset will be made anonymous.
- All survey data will be stored on a secure, encrypted and password-protected server which only named members of the research team can access.
- All data will be processed in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) law.
- If you agree for your child to take part in this study and with your permission, the non-identifiable survey data provided by your child will be shared with other researchers and agencies. This is in order to support additional research in accordance with The University of Manchester’s Research Privacy Notice (see above link). As already noted, this information will be completely anonymous.

* Please also note that individuals from The University of Manchester or other authorities may need to look at the data collected for this study to make sure the project is being carried out as planned. This may involve looking at identifiable data. All individuals involved in monitoring the study will have a strict duty of confidentiality to you/your child as a participant.

What if I have a complaint?

Thank you for taking the time to read this information sheet.

Agreeing for your child to be part of this research

- We hope you will allow your child to take part in this research.
- In providing permission, you are agreeing for your child to participate in the #BeeWell survey, for their survey data to be linked to background information about them, and for future linkage of their data to other information held about them (outlined above in 'data protection and confidentiality').
- If you do not give your permission, you need to return the form below as soon as possible, and no later than Friday 27th September 2024.
- Choosing not to take part will not disadvantage you or your child in any way.
- It will be made clear to all children that it is up to them if they take part. They will also be reminded that they can skip questions if they don't want to answer them.

You only need to complete and return this slip if you do not wish your child to take part. Please either email the information below to lawrence.wo@manchester.ac.uk (or ring 0161 275 3415), or post back to the following address:
